CONTRACTS OF SERVICE

Illegal terms of contract of service

8. Every term of a contract of service which provides a condition of service which is less favourable to an employee than any of the conditions of service prescribed by this Act is illegal and void to the extent that it is so less favourable.

Termination of contract

9.—(1) A contract of service for a specified piece of work or for a specified period of time, unless otherwise terminated in accordance with the provisions of this Part, terminates when the work specified in the contract is completed or the period of time for which the contract was made has expired.

(2) A contract of service for an unspecified period of time is deemed to run until terminated by either party in accordance with the provisions of this Part.

Notice of termination of contract

10.—(1) Either party to a contract of service may at any time give to the other party notice of the firstmentioned party's intention to terminate the contract of service.

(2) The length of the notice must be the same for both employer and employee and is to be determined by any provision made for the notice in the terms of the contract of service, or, in the absence of such provision, must be in accordance with subsection (3).

(3) The notice to terminate the service of a person who is employed under a contract of service must be at least —

- (a) one day's notice if the person has been so employed for less than 26 weeks;
- (b) one week's notice if the person has been so employed for 26 weeks or more but less than 2 years;
- (c) 2 weeks' notice if the person has been so employed for 2 years or more but less than 5 years; and
- (d) 4 weeks' notice if the person has been so employed for 5 years or more.

(4) This section does not prevent either party from waiving that party's right to notice on any occasion.

(5) The notice must be written and may be given at any time, and the day on which the notice is given is included in the period of the notice.

Termination of contract without notice

11.—(1) Either party to a contract of service may terminate the contract of service without notice or, if notice has already been given in accordance with section 10, without waiting for the expiry of that notice, by paying to the other party a sum equal to the amount of salary at the gross rate of pay which would have accrued to the employee during the period of the notice and in the case of a monthly-rated employee where the period of the notice is less than a month, the amount payable for any one day is the gross rate of pay for one day's work.

(2) Either party to a contract of service may terminate the contract of service without notice in the event of any wilful breach by the other party of a condition of the contract of service.

Contractual age

12.—(1) Despite any other written law, a person below 18 years of age is, subject to the provisions of this Act, competent to enter into a contract of service.

(2) No contract of service as an employee is enforceable against a person below 18 years of age and no damages or indemnity are recoverable from that person in respect of the contract of service unless it is for his or her benefit.

When contract deemed to be broken by employer and employee

- (b) instantly suspend the employee from work without payment of salary for a period not exceeding one week.

[26/2013]

(2) Despite subsection (1), but subject to section 3 of the Employment Claims Act 2016, where a relevant employee considers that he or she has been dismissed without just cause or excuse by his or her employer, the employee may lodge a claim, under section 13 of that Act, for either of the following remedies:

- (a) reinstatement in the employee's former employment;
- (b) compensation.

(2A) For the purposes of subsection (2), a relevant employee means —

- (a) an employee employed in a managerial or an executive position —

- (a) in a claim for reinstatement of the employee in his or her former employment, direct the employer —
 - (i) to reinstate the employee in the employee's former employment; and
 - (ii) to pay the employee an amount equivalent to the wages that the employee would have earned, if the employee had not been dismissed; or

[55/2018]

(9) If the inquiry does not disclose any misconduct on the employee's part, the employer must immediately restore to the employee the full amount of the salary so withheld.

Termination by employee threatened by danger

15. An employee may terminate his or her contract of service with his or her employer without notice where the employee or the employee's dependant is immediately threatened by danger to the person by violence or disease that the employee did not by his or her contract of service undertake to run.

Liability on breach of contract

16. Subject to anything in the contract of service to the contrary, the party who breaks the contract of service is liable to pay to the other party a sum equal to the amount the firstmentioned party would have been liable to pay under section 11 had the firstmentioned party terminated the contract of service without notice or with insufficient notice.

Contract of service not to restrict rights of employees to join, participate in or organise trade unions

17. Subject to any other written law for the time being in force, nothing in any contract of service restricts, in any way, the right of any employee who is a party to such contract —

- (a) to join a registered trade union;

Change of employer

18.—(1) If by or under any written law a contract of employment between any body corporate and an employee is modified and some other body corporate is substituted as the employer, the employee's period of employment at the time when the modification takes effect counts as a period of employment with that other body corporate, and the change of employer does not break the continuity of the period of employment.

(2) If on an employer's death the employee is taken into the employment of the personal representatives or trustees of the deceased, the employee's period of employment at the time of the death counts as a period of employment with the employer's personal representatives or trustees, and the death of the employer does not break the continuity of the period of employment.

(3) If there is a change in the partners, personal representatives or trustees who employ any person, the employee's period of employment at the time of the change counts as a period of employment with the partners, personal representatives or trustees after the change, and the change does not break the continuity of the period of employment.

Transfer of employment

18A.—(1) If an undertaking (whether or not it is an undertaking established by or under any written law) or part thereof is transferred from one person to another —

- (a) such transfer does not operate to terminate the contract of service of any person employed by the transferor in the undertaking or part transferred but such contract of service has effect after the transfer as if originally made between the person so employed and the transferee; and
- (b) the period of employment of an employee in the undertaking or part transferred at the time of transfer counts as a period of employment with the transferee, and the transfer does not break the continuity of the period of employment.

(2) Without affecting subsection (1), on completion of a transfer referred to in that subsection —

- (a) all the transferor's rights, powers, duties and liabilities under or in connection with any such contract of service are transferred by virtue of this section to the transferee;
- (b) any act or omission done before the transfer by the transferor in respect of that contract of service is deemed to have been done by the transferee; and
- (c) any act or omission done before the transfer by an employee employed in the undertaking or part transferred in relation to the transferor is deemed to have been done in relation to the transferee.

(3) On the completion of a transfer mentioned in subsection (1), it is declared for the avoidance of doubt that the terms and conditions of service of an employee whose contract of service is preserved under that subsection are the same as those enjoyed by the employee immediately prior to the transfer.

(4) Subsections (1) and (2) do not transfer or otherwise affect the liability of any person to be prosecuted for, convicted of and sentenced for any offence.

(5) As soon as it is reasonable and before a transfer under subsection (1) takes place, to enable consultations to take place between the transferor and the affected employees and between the transferor and a trade union of affected employees (if any), the transferor must notify the affected employees and the trade union of affected employees (if any) of —

- (a) the fact that the transfer is to take place, the approximate date on which it is to take place and the reasons for it;
- (b) the implications of the transfer and the measures that the transferor envisages taking, in connection with the transfer, in relation to the affected employees or, if the transferor envisages that no measures will be so taken, that fact; and
- (c) the measures that the transferee envisages the transferee will, in connection with the transfer, take in relation to such of those employees as, by virtue of subsection (1), become employees of the transferee after the transfer or, if the transferee envisages that no measures will be so taken, that fact.

(6) As soon as it is reasonable, the transferee must give the transferor such information so as to enable the transferor to perform the duty imposed on the transferor by virtue of subsection (5)(c).

(7) Where the Commissioner considers that there has been an inordinate delay —

- (a) by the transferor in notifying the affected employees or a trade union of affected employees of the matters set out in subsection (5); or
- (b) by the transferee in notifying the transferor of the information set out in subsection (6), the Commissioner may, by written notice, direct the transferor to comply with subsection (5) or the transferee to comply with subsection (6) (as the case may be) within such time as may be specified in the notice.

(8) Where, immediately before a transfer referred to in subsection (1), a trade union is recognised by the transferor for the purposes of the Industrial Relations Act 1960 in respect of any employee who in consequence of the transfer becomes the employee of the transferee, the trade union, after the transfer —

- (a) is deemed to be recognised by the transferee for the purposes of the Industrial Relations Act 1960 if, after the transfer, the majority of employees employed by the transferee are members of the trade union; or
- (b) in any other case, is deemed to be recognised by the transferee only for the purpose of representing the employee on any dispute arising —
 - (i) from any collective agreement that was entered into between the transferor and the trade union while the collective agreement remains in force; or
 - (ii) from the transfer of the employee's employment from the transferor to the transferee under this section.

(8A) For the purposes of subsection (8)(b), any collective agreement that was entered into between the transferor and the trade union of the affected employees and in force immediately before the transfer continues in force between the transferee and the trade union of the affected employees for a period of 18 months after the date of the transfer or until the date of its expiry as specified in the collective agreement, whichever is the later.

(9) A dispute or disagreement between the transferor and an employee or the transferee and an employee arising from a transfer under subsection (1), whether before or after the transfer, may be referred by a party to the dispute or disagreement to the Commissioner under section 115 and is deemed to be a dispute to which that section applies.

(10) Where a dispute or disagreement has been referred to the Commissioner pursuant to subsection (9), the Commissioner has, in addition to the powers conferred under section 115, the powers —

- (a) to delay or prohibit the transfer of employment of the employee to the dispute from the transferor to the transferee under subsection (1); and
- (b) to order that the transfer of employment of the employee to the dispute from the transferor to the transferee under subsection (1) be subject to any terms that the Commissioner considers just.

(11) The Minister may make regulations that the Minister considers necessary or expedient to give effect to the provisions of this section and, in particular, may make regulations —

- (a) to provide for the form and manner of consultations between the transferor and the affected employees and between the transferor and a trade union of affected employees under subsection (5);

- (b) for the type of information that must be communicated by the transferor to the affected employees and to a trade union of affected employees under subsection (5), or by the transferee to the transferor under subsection (6); and
- (c) to provide for a mechanism for conciliation of disputes arising out of or relating to a transfer mentioned in subsection (1) between any employer and employee.

(12) Nothing in this section prevents a transferee of an undertaking referred to in subsection (1) and an employee whose contract of service is preserved under that subsection or a trade union representing such an employee from negotiating for and agreeing to terms of service different from those contained in the contract of service that is preserved under that subsection.

(13) In this section —

“affected employee” means any employee of the transferor who may be affected by a transfer under subsection (1) or may be affected by the measures taken in connection with such a transfer;

PART 3

PAYMENT OF SALARY

Fixation of salary period

20.—(1) An employer may fix periods (called for the purpose of this Act salary periods) in respect of which salary earned is payable.

(2) A salary period must not exceed one month.

(3) In the absence of a salary period so fixed, the salary period is deemed to be one month.

Computation of salary for incomplete month's work

20A.—(1) If a monthly-rated employee has not completed a whole month of service because —

(a) he or she commenced employment after the first day of the month;

(b) his or her employment was terminated before the end of the month;

(c) he or she took leave of absence without pay for one or more days of the month; or

(d) he or she took leave of absence to perform his or her national service under the Enlistment Act 1970, the salary due to him or her for that month is to be calculated in accordance with the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{Monthly gross rate of pay}}{\text{Number of days on which the employee is required to work in that month}} \times \text{Number of days the employee actually worked in that month.}$$

(2) In calculating the number of days actually worked by an employee in a month under subsection (1), any day on which an employee is required to work for 5 hours or less under his or her contract of service is regarded as half a day.

Payment on termination by employee

23.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the total salary due to an employee who terminates his or her contract of service with his or her employer under section 11, or after giving due notice to the employer as required under section 10, must be paid to the employee on the day on which the contract of service is terminated.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the total salary due to an employee who terminates his or her contract of service without giving prior notice to his or her employer as required under section 10, or, if notice has already been given under that section, but the employee terminates his or her contract of service without waiting for the expiry of the notice, must be paid to the employee before the expiry of the 7th day after the day on which the employee terminates his or her contract of service.

(3) The employer may, subject to any order made by a court or the Commissioner to the contrary, deduct from the salary due to the employee such sum as the employee is liable to pay in lieu of prior notice under section 11(1).

Income tax clearance

24.—(1) Despite sections 22 and 23, no payment of salary or any other sum due to an employee on termination of service is to be made to the employee by the employer without the permission of the Comptroller of Income Tax under section 68(7) of the Income Tax Act 1947.

(2) The amount of any deduction referred to in subsection (1) must not bear a larger proportion to the salary payable at the gross rate of pay to the employee in respect of the salary period for which the deduction is made than the proportion the period for which the employee was absent bears to the total period within such salary period during which the employee was required to work by the terms of his or her employment; and in the case of a monthly-rated employee the amount of deduction in respect of any one day is the gross rate of pay for one day's work.

(3) If any employee absents himself or herself from work otherwise than as provided by this Act or by his or her contract of service, the employer may, subject to any order which may be made by a court or by the Commissioner on complaint of either party, deduct from any salary due to the employee the cost of food supplied to him or her during his or her absence.

Rest day

36.—(1) Every employee must be allowed in each week a rest day without pay of one whole day which must be Sunday or such other day as the employer may determine from time to time.

(2) The employer may substitute any continuous period of 30 hours as a rest day for an employee engaged in shift work.

(3) Where in any week a continuous period of 30 hours commencing at any time before 6 p.m. on a Sunday is substituted as a rest day for an employee engaged in shift work, the rest day is deemed to have been granted within the week even though the period of 30 hours ends after the week.

(4) Where an employee's rest day is determined by his or her employer, the employer must prepare or cause to be prepared a roster before the commencement of the month in which the rest days fall informing the employee of the days appointed to be his or her rest days in the month.

Work on rest day

37.—(1) Subject to section 38(2) or 40(2A), an employee must not be compelled to work on a rest day unless he or she is engaged in work which by reason of its nature requires to be carried on continuously by a succession of shifts.

(1A) In the event of any dispute, the Commissioner has power to decide whether or not an employee is engaged in work which by reason of its nature requires to be carried on continuously by a succession of shifts.

(2) An employee who at his or her own request works for an employer on a rest day must be paid for that day —

- (a) if the period of work does not exceed half the employee's normal hours of work, a sum at the basic rate of pay for half a day's work;

(3) An employee who at the request of his or her employer works on a rest day must be paid for that day —

- (a) if the period of work does not exceed half the employee's normal hours of work, a sum at the basic rate of pay for one day's work;

- (c) if the period of work exceeds the employee's normal hours of work for one day —

- (i) a sum at the basic rate of pay for 2 days' work; and
- (ii) a sum at the rate of not less than one and a half times the employee's hourly basic rate of pay for each hour or part thereof that the period of work exceeds the employee's normal hours of work for one day.

- (a) "normal hours of work" means the number of hours of work (not exceeding the limits applicable to an employee under section 38 or 40, as the case may be) that is agreed between an employer and an employee to be the usual hours of work per day; or in the absence of any such agreement, is deemed to be 8 hours a day; and
- (b) an employee's "hourly basic rate of pay" is to be calculated in the same manner as for the purpose of calculating payment due to an employee under section 38 for working overtime.

(4) Subsection (3) does not apply to any employee who is employed by the Government or a statutory body in any of the essential services as defined under Part 3 of the Criminal Law (Temporary Provisions) Act 1955, but any such employee who at the request of his or her employer works on a rest day or part thereof must be given a day or part of a day off (as the case may be) in substitution for such a rest day or part thereof.

Hours of work

38.—(1) Except as hereinafter provided, an employee must not be required under his or her contract of service to work —

- (a) more than 6 consecutive hours without a period of leisure;

- (d) where, by agreement under the contract of service between the employee and the employer, the number of hours of work on one or more days of the week is less than 8, the limit of 8 hours in one day may be exceeded on the remaining days of the week, but so that no employee is required to work for more than 9 hours in one day or 44 hours in one week;

- (e) where, by agreement under the contract of service between the employee and the employer, the number of days on which the employee is required to work in a week is not more than 5 days, the limit of 8 hours in one day may be exceeded but so that no employee is required to work more than 9 hours in one day or 44 hours in one week; and
- (f) where, by agreement under the contract of service between the employee and the employer, the number of hours of work in every alternate week is less than 44, the limit of 44 hours in one week may be exceeded in the other week, but so that no employee is required to work for more than 48 hours in one week or for more than 88 hours in any continuous period of 2 weeks.

(2) An employee may be required by his or her employer to exceed the limit of hours prescribed in subsection (1) and to work on a rest day, in the case of —

(3) In the event of any dispute, the Commissioner has power to decide whether or not the employer is justified in calling upon the employee to work in the circumstances specified in subsection (2)(f).

(4) If an employee at the request of the employer works —

- (a) more than 8 hours in one day except as provided in paragraphs (d) and (e) of the proviso to subsection (1), or more than 9 hours in one day in any case specified in those paragraphs; or than 88 hours in any continuous period of 2 weeks in any case specified in that paragraph, the employee must be paid for the extra work at the rate of not less than one and a half times the employee's hourly basic rate of pay irrespective of the basis on which the employee's rate of pay is fixed.

(5) An employee must not be permitted to work overtime for more than 72 hours a month.

(6) For the purpose of calculating under subsection (4) the payment due for overtime to an employee referred to in the first column of the Fourth Schedule, the employee's hourly basic rate of pay is to be determined in accordance with the second column of the Fourth Schedule.

[26/2013]

(9) This section does not apply to employees engaged in the fire services or in work which by its nature involves long hours of inactive or stand-by employment.

Task work

39. Nothing in this Part prevents any employer from agreeing with any employee that the employee's salary be paid at an agreed rate in accordance with the task, that is, the specific amount of work required to be performed, and not by the day or by the piece.

Shift workers, etc.

40.—(1) Despite section 38(1), an employee who is engaged under his or her contract of service in regular shift work or who has otherwise consented in writing to work in accordance with the hours of work specified in this section may be required to work more than 6 consecutive hours, more than 8 hours in any one day or more than 44 hours in any one week but the average number of hours worked over any continuous period of 3 weeks must not exceed 44 hours per week.

(2) No consent given by an employee under this section is valid unless this section and section 38 have been explained to the employee and the employee has been informed of the times at which the hours of work begin and end, the number of working days in each week and the weekly rest day.

(2A) An employee to whom this section applies may be required by his or her employer to exceed the limit of hours prescribed in subsection (1) and to work on a rest day, in the case of —

80.—(1) A female employee must, at least one week before absenting herself from work in accordance with section 76, give notice to her employer specifying the date on which she intends to commence absenting herself from work.

(2) A female employee who has been confined must, as soon as practicable, inform her employer of the date on which she was confined.

(3) Any female employee who omits to give notice as required under subsection (1) or fails to inform her employer as required under subsection (2) is entitled to only half the amount of any payment to which she is entitled to under this Part unless she was prevented by any sufficient cause from giving the notice.

(4) A female employee may at any time in writing nominate some other person to whom any payment to which she is entitled under this Part may be paid on her behalf; and any such payment made to the person so nominated is deemed, for the purpose of this Act, to be payment to the female employee who nominated the person.

Dismissal during absence prohibited

81. Without affecting sections 84 and 84A, when a female employee absents herself from work in accordance with the provisions of this Part it is not lawful for her employer to give her notice of dismissal during her absence or on such a day that the notice will expire during her absence.

Employment after confinement

82. Any employer who knowingly employs a female employee at any time during the period of 4 weeks immediately following her confinement shall be guilty of an offence.

Forfeiture of payment

83. If a female employee works for any other employer after she has absented herself from work under the provisions of this Part, she forfeits her claim to any payment to which she is entitled under this Part and is liable to dismissal.

Right to benefit unaffected by notice of dismissal given without sufficient cause

84.—(1) Without affecting sections 81 and 84A, a notice of dismissal given without sufficient cause by an employer to a female employee which —

- (a) if given before 1 May 2013, is given —
 - (i) within a period of 6 months preceding the estimated delivery date for her confinement (as certified by a medical practitioner); or
 - (ii) within a period of 6 months preceding the date of her confinement;
- (b) if given on or after 1 May 2013, is given at any time of her pregnancy (as certified by a medical practitioner before the notice of dismissal is given), where the female employee has served the employer for a period of 3 months or more immediately preceding the day the notice is given; or
- (c) if given on or after 1 May 2013 but before 1 August 2013 and where the female employee has served the employer for a period of less than 3 months, is given —
 - (i) within a period of 6 months preceding the estimated delivery date for her confinement (as certified by a medical practitioner); or
 - (ii) within a period of 6 months preceding the date of her confinement, does not have the effect of depriving her of any payment to which, but for that notice, she would have been entitled or would, on or before the date of her confinement, have become entitled to under this Part.

[12/2013]

(1A) In any case where there are 2 or more estimated delivery dates (each certified by a medical practitioner) for the confinement of a female employee, the estimated delivery date that is relevant for the purposes of subsection (1) is the estimated delivery date —

- (a) which is certified by a medical practitioner before the notice of dismissal is given by her employer; and
- (b) the date of such certification of which is closest to the date the notice of dismissal is given.

(2) Subject to section 3 of the Employment Claims Act 2016, where a female employee in the circumstances mentioned in subsection (1)(a), (b) or (c) considers that a notice of dismissal given to her was not given for sufficient cause, the female employee may lodge a claim, under section 13 of that Act, for either of the following remedies:

- (a) reinstatement in her former employment;
- (b) compensation.

[55/2018]

(3) If a Tribunal hearing the claim is satisfied that the female employee has been dismissed without sufficient cause, the Tribunal may, despite any rule of law or agreement to the contrary —

- (a) in a claim for reinstatement of the employee in her former employment, direct the employer —
 - (i) to reinstate the employee in her former employment; and
 - (ii) to pay the employee an amount equivalent to the wages that the employee would have earned, if she had not been dismissed by the employer; or
- (b) in a claim for compensation, direct the employer to pay, as compensation to the employee, an amount of wages determined by the Tribunal to be just and equitable having regard to all the circumstances of the case.

[55/2018]

Right to benefit unaffected by notice of dismissal given on ground of redundancy or by reason of reorganisation of employer's profession, business, trade or work

84A.—(1) Without affecting sections 81 and 84, a notice of dismissal given to a female employee by her employer on the ground of redundancy or by reason of any reorganisation of her employer's profession, business, trade or work —

- (a) if given before 1 May 2013, is given —
 - (i) within a period of 3 months preceding the estimated delivery date for her confinement (as certified by a medical practitioner); or
 - (ii) within a period of 3 months preceding the date of her confinement;
- (b) if given on or after 1 May 2013, is given at any time of her pregnancy (as certified by a medical practitioner before the notice of dismissal is given), where the female employee has served the employer for a period of

- 3 months or more immediately preceding the day the notice is given; or
- (c) if given on or after 1 May 2013 but before 1 August 2013 and where the female employee has served the employer for a period of less than 3 months, is given —
- (i) within a period of 3 months preceding the estimated delivery date for her confinement (as certified by a medical practitioner); or
 - (ii) within a period of 3 months preceding the date of her confinement, does not have the effect of depriving her of any payment to which, but for that notice, she would have been entitled or would, on or before the date of her confinement, have become entitled to under this Part.

[12/2013]

(2) In any case where there are 2 or more estimated delivery dates (each certified by a medical practitioner) for the confinement of a female employee, the estimated delivery date that is relevant for the purposes of subsection (1) is the estimated delivery date —

- (a) which is certified by a medical practitioner before the notice of dismissal is given by her employer; and
- (b) the date of such certification of which is closest to the date the notice of dismissal is given.

(3) The payment referred to in subsection (1) is in addition to any retrenchment benefit or other payment to which the female employee is entitled under the terms of her contract of service or under any other written law.

85. [Repealed by Act 12 of 2013]

Contracting out

86. Any contract of service whereby a female employee relinquishes any right to maternity benefit under this Part is void insofar as it purports to deprive her of that right or to remove or reduce the liability of any employer to make any payment under this Part.

Offences and penalties

87.—(1) Any employer who —

- (a) fails, without reasonable cause, to grant maternity leave under this Part to a female employee who is entitled to and requests for the leave;

- (b) fails to pay the employer's female employee in accordance with any of the provisions of this Part (other than section 87A); or [12/2013]

(2) Any employer who is guilty of an offence under section 82 shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $5,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months or to both.

[12/2013]

(4) For the purposes of subsection (3), a person is a repeat offender in relation to an offence under subsection (1)(a), (b) or (c) or section 82 if the person who is convicted or found guilty of an offence under subsection (1)(a), (b) or (c) or section 82 (called the current offence) has been convicted or found guilty of —

- (a) an offence under subsection (1)(a), (b) or (c) or section 82; or
- (b) an offence under section 17(1) of the Child Development Co-Savings Act 2001 in force before, on or after 1 May 2013,

[12/2013]

Childcare leave for parent

87A.—(1) Subject to subsection (2), where any employee —

- (a) has served an employer for a period of not less than 3 months; and the employee is entitled to childcare leave of 2 days for that relevant period.

(2) An employee —

(3) The childcare leave is in addition to the rest days, holidays, annual leave and sick leave to which an employee is entitled under sections 36, 88, 88A and 89, respectively.

[55/2018]

(4) An employer must grant, and an employee who is entitled to childcare leave must take, the entitlement of childcare leave of 2 days for a relevant period not later than the last day of that relevant period, and any employee who fails to take that leave by that day —

- (a) thereupon ceases to be entitled to that leave; and
- (b) is not entitled to any payment in lieu thereof.

(5) An employer must pay an employee who is entitled to childcare leave his or her gross rate of pay for every day of such leave that is taken by the employee.

(5A) Despite subsection (5), an employee is not entitled to take paid childcare leave on a day the employee takes no-pay leave.

[27/2015]

(6) If the employment of an employee who is entitled to childcare leave is terminated (whether by resignation or dismissal, upon the completion of his or her contract of service, or for any other reason) before he or she has taken the entitlement of childcare leave of 2 days for a relevant period, the employee —

- (a) ceases to be entitled to that leave upon the termination of his or her employment; and
- (b) is not entitled to any payment in lieu thereof.

(7) Any employer who contravenes subsection (5) shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $5,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months or to both.

[12/2013]

(7A) Any employer who fails, without reasonable cause, to grant childcare leave to an employee who is entitled to and requests for the leave shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $5,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 6 months or to both.

[12/2013]

(7B) Where an employer who is convicted or found guilty of an offence under subsection (7) or (7A) is a repeat offender, that employer shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $10,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months or to both.

[12/2013]

(7C) For the purposes of subsection (7B), a person is a repeat offender in relation to an offence under subsection (7) or (7A) if the person who is convicted or found guilty of an offence under subsection (7) or (7A) (called the current offence) has been convicted or found guilty of —

- (a) an offence under subsection (7) or (7A);

[30/2019]

PART 10

HOLIDAY, ANNUAL LEAVE AND SICK LEAVE ENTITLEMENTS

[55/2018]

Holidays

88.—(1) Every employee is entitled to a paid holiday at his or her gross rate of pay on a public holiday that falls during the time that he or she is employed, subject to the following:

- (a) by agreement between the employer and the employee any other day or days may be substituted for any one or more public holidays;
- (b) if any public holiday falls on a rest day, the working day next following that rest day is a paid holiday;
- (c) if any public holiday falls on a day when the employee is not required to work under his or her contract of service, the employer may either pay the employee for that holiday at his or her gross rate of pay or give the employee a day off in substitution for that holiday.

[27/2015]

(2) Despite subsection (1), an employee is not entitled to holiday pay for any public holiday which falls on a day when the employee is on leave of absence without pay granted by the employer at the employee's request.

[27/2015]

(3) An employee who absents himself or herself from work on the working day immediately preceding or immediately succeeding a public holiday or any day substituted therefor under subsection (1) without the prior consent of his or her employer or without reasonable excuse is not entitled to any holiday pay for that holiday.

[27/2015]

(4) Despite subsection (1), any employee may be required by his or her employer to work on any public holiday to which the employee would otherwise be entitled under that subsection and, in such event, the employee must be paid an extra day's salary at the basic rate of pay for one day's work in addition to the gross rate of pay for that day and to a travelling allowance, if payable to the employee under the terms of his or her agreement with his or her employer, for one day.

[27/2015]

(4A) Despite subsections (1) and (4), where any employee (other than an employee to whom Part 4 applies by virtue of section 35(b) or who is a workman mentioned in section 35(a)) is required by his or her employer to work on any public holiday to which the employee would otherwise be entitled under subsection (1), the employee must be paid the gross rate of pay for that day and may be given the following, in lieu of a day off in substitution for that holiday or an extra day's salary at the basic rate of pay:

- (a) part of a day off on a working day comprising such number of hours as may be agreed between the employee and his or her employer;
- (b) in the case where there is no such agreement —
 - (i) part of a day off on a working day comprising 4 hours if the employee worked on that holiday for a period not exceeding 4 hours; or
 - (ii) a day off on a working day if the employee worked on that holiday for a period of more than 4 hours.

[26/2013; 27/2015; 55/2018]

(5) An employee is not entitled, by reason of subsection (4), to receive double any housing allowance or food allowance.

(6) Subsection (4) does not apply to an employee who is employed by the Government or a statutory body in any of the essential services as defined under Part 3 of the Criminal Law (Temporary Provisions) Act 1955, but —

- (a) any such employee may, despite subsection (1), be required by his or her employer to work on a public holiday or part thereof to which the employee would otherwise be entitled under that subsection; and
- (b) in any such case, the employee must be given a day or part of a day off (as the case may be) in substitution for the public holiday or part thereof.

[27/2015]

(7) For the purposes of this section if any public holiday falls on a half working day, the gross or basic rate of pay payable is that of a full working day.

[27/2015]

Annual leave

88A.—(1) An employee who has served an employer for a period of not less than 3 months is, in addition to the rest days, holidays and sick leave to which the employee is entitled under sections 36, 88 and 89, respectively, entitled to the following:

- (a) 7 days of paid annual leave, for the first 12 months of continuous service with the same employer;
- (b) subject to paragraph (c), an additional one day of paid annual leave, for every subsequent 12 months of continuous service with the same employer;

(c) a maximum of 14 days of paid annual leave.

[55/2018]

(2) An employee who has served an employer for a period of not less than 3 months, but has not completed 12 months of continuous service in any year, is entitled to annual leave in proportion to the number of completed months of service in that year.

[55/2018]

(3) In calculating the proportionate annual leave under subsection (2) —

(a) any fraction of a day that is less than one-half of a day must be disregarded; and

(b) where a fraction of a day is one-half or more, it must be regarded as one day.

[55/2018]

(4) Where an employee is granted leave of absence without pay by an employer at the employee's request, the period of the leave is to be disregarded for the purpose of computing the period of continuous service under this section.

[55/2018]

(5) An employee forfeits the employee's entitlement to annual leave if the employee absents himself or herself from work without the employer's permission, or without reasonable excuse, for more than 20% of the working days in the months or year (as the case may be) in which the employee's entitlement to annual leave accrues.

[55/2018]

(6) In the case of an employee to whom Part 4 applies by virtue of section 35(b) or who is a workman mentioned in section 35(a) —

(a) the employer must grant, and the employee must take, the employee's paid annual leave not later than 12 months after the end of every 12 months of continuous service; and

(b) if the employee fails to take that leave by the end of that period, the employee ceases to be entitled to that leave.

[55/2018]

(7) An employer must pay an employee the employee's gross rate of pay for every day of paid annual leave.

[55/2018]

(8) If an employee is dismissed on any ground other than misconduct before the employee has taken all of the employee's paid annual leave, the employer must pay the employee the employee's gross rate of pay in respect of every day of that leave not taken by the employee.

[55/2018]

- (9) The Minister may, by notification in the Gazette, do any of the following:
- (a) fix the periods when, and prescribe the manner in which, paid annual leave is to be granted to employees in different types of employment or in different classes of industries;
 - (b) suspend the application of any provision of this section to any class of employees, when the public interest so requires it.

[55/2018]

Sick leave

89.—(1) Any employee who has served an employer for a period of not less than 6 months is entitled, after examination by a medical practitioner, to such paid sick leave, as may be certified by the medical practitioner, not exceeding in the aggregate —

- (a) if no hospitalisation is necessary, 14 days in each year; or
- (b) if hospitalisation is necessary, the lesser of the following:
 - (i) 60 days in each year;
 - (ii) the aggregate of 14 days plus the number of days on which the employee is hospitalised.

[55/2018]

(2) Any employee who has served an employer for a period of at least 3 months but less than 6 months is entitled, after examination by a medical practitioner, to such paid sick leave, as may be certified by the medical practitioner, not exceeding in the aggregate —

- (a) where the employee has served the employer for a period of at least 3 months but less than 4 months —
 - (i) if no hospitalisation is necessary, 5 days in each year; or
 - (ii) if hospitalisation is necessary, the lesser of the following:
 - (A) 15 days in each year;
 - (B) the aggregate of 5 days plus the number of days on which the employee is hospitalised;
- (b) where the employee has served the employer for a period of at least 4 months but less than 5 months —
 - (i) if no hospitalisation is necessary, 8 days in each year; or

- (ii) if hospitalisation is necessary, the lesser of the following:
 - (A) 30 days in each year;
 - (B) the aggregate of 8 days plus the number of days on which the employee is hospitalised; or
- (c) where the employee has served the employer for a period of at least 5 months but less than 6 months —
 - (i) if no hospitalisation is necessary, 11 days in each year; or
 - (ii) if hospitalisation is necessary, the lesser of the following:
 - (A) 45 days in each year;
 - (B) the aggregate of 11 days plus the number of days on which the employee is hospitalised.

[55/2018]

(3) For the purposes of this section —

- (a) an employee is hospitalised if the employee is warded in a hospital in such circumstances as may be prescribed or is under quarantine (whether or not in a hospital) under any written law; and
- (b) an employee is to be treated as hospitalised for any period the employee is not an in-patient of a hospital, or stops being an in-patient of a hospital after being warded in that hospital in accordance with paragraph (a), if the employee is certified, by a medical practitioner employed by a hospital approved by the Minister —
 - (i) to be ill enough to require hospitalisation during that period; or
 - (ii) to need rest or further medical treatment during that period in order to recover after the employee's discharge from a hospital.

[55/2018]

(4) An employee who absents himself or herself on sick leave —

- (a) which is not certified by a medical practitioner; or
- (b) which is certified by a medical practitioner not appointed by the employer, but of which the employee did not inform or attempt to inform the employer within 48 hours after its commencement, is deemed to have absented himself or herself from work without the employer's permission and without reasonable excuse for the days on which the employee is so absent from work.

[55/2018]

(5) The employer must pay the employee for every day of such sick leave —

- (a) where no hospitalisation is necessary, at the gross rate of pay excluding any allowance payable in respect of shift work; and
- (b) where hospitalisation is necessary, at the gross rate of pay.

(6) Despite subsection (5), an employee is not entitled to paid sick leave on a rest day or on a holiday to which he or she is entitled under section 36 or 88 respectively or on any day of paid annual leave or on a day when he or she is not required to work under his or her contract of service or on a day when he or she is on leave of absence without pay granted by the employer at the employee's request.

(7) An employee is not entitled to paid sick leave for the period during which he or she is receiving or is entitled to receive compensation for temporary incapacity under paragraph 4 of the First Schedule to the Work Injury Compensation Act 2019 or paragraph 4 of the Third Schedule to the Work Injury Compensation Act (Cap. 354, 2009 Revised Edition) repealed by that Act.

[27/2019]

(7A) Where an employee has served an employer for a period of at least 3 months, the employer is liable to bear, or to reimburse the employee, the fees of an examination of the employee by a medical practitioner, if —

- (a) the medical practitioner is appointed by the employer or is a medical officer; and
- (b) after the examination, the employee is certified by the medical practitioner to be entitled to paid sick leave.

[55/2018]

(8) An employer is deemed to fulfil the employer's obligation under subsection (7A) if —

- (a) the Commissioner, after considering the merits of any healthcare scheme that the employer provides to the employer's employees and such other matters as the Commissioner may consider relevant, by written order directs that the employer has fulfilled that obligation for so long as the employer provides such a healthcare scheme for the employer's employees; or
- (b) the employer complies with such other requirement as the Minister may,

by regulations, prescribe.

[55/2018]

(9) An order made under subsection (8)(a) —

- (a) may be subject to such terms or conditions as the Commissioner may determine, which the Commissioner may add to, vary or revoke;
- (b) need not be published in the Gazette; and
- (c) may be revoked by the Commissioner in writing at any time.

(10) This section does not apply to any employee seeking or undergoing medical treatment which, in the opinion of a medical practitioner performing the examination under subsection (1) or (2), is for cosmetic purposes.

[26/2013; 55/2018]

Offence

90.—(1) Any employer who employs any person as an employee contrary to the provisions of this Part or fails to pay any salary in accordance with the provisions of this Part shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $5,000, and for a second or subsequent offence to a fine not exceeding $10,000 or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 12 months or to both.

[4/2010]

(2) Despite subsection (1) —

- (a) an employer and the employer's employees or a trade union representing the employer's employees may negotiate for and agree to terms of service more favourable than those contained in sections 88A and 89; and

PART 12

REGISTERS, RETURNS AND OTHER DOCUMENTARY REQUIREMENTS

Employers' obligation in relation to employee records

95.—(1) An employer must make, and keep for the period prescribed (called in this section the record retention period), employee records containing the prescribed particulars for —

- (a) every employee the employer employs; and
- (b) every former employee of the employer.

[27/2015]

(2) An employer must ensure that an employee record made and kept under subsection (1) is, during the record retention period prescribed for the employee record, readily accessible to the employee or former employee to which the employee record relates.

[27/2015]

(3) An employer is taken to have failed to comply with subsection (1) if the employer makes or keeps an employee record that is incomplete or inaccurate, whether or not the employer knew that the record is incomplete or inaccurate.

[27/2015]

(4) Different record retention periods may be prescribed for different classes of employees or former employees, and for different types of employee records.

[27/2015]

(5) In this section, “employee record”, for an employee or a former employee of an employer, means a record of information or particulars about the employment by the employer of the employee or former employee, as the case may be.

[27/2015]

Employers' obligation to give record of key employment terms

95A.—(1) This section only applies to, and in relation to, every employee —

- (a) who enters into a contract of service with the employer on or after 1 April 2016; and
- (b) who is employed under that contract for a period not shorter than the prescribed minimum period of service.

[27/2015]

(2) An employer must give each employee of the employer a written record of the key employment terms of the employee not later than 14 days after the day that the employee starts employment with the employer, or within such other period as may be prescribed in substitution.

[27/2015]

(3) The requirement to give a written record of key employment terms to an employee in subsection (2) is satisfied if —

- (a) an electronic record containing the key employment terms is provided in a manner that enables the information contained in the electronic record to be accessible and useable by the employee for subsequent reference; or
- (b) the key employment terms are published on an Internet website —
 - (i) which is authorised by the employer and readily accessible to the employee; and
 - (ii) which address is disseminated by the employer to the employee.

[27/2015]

(4) To avoid doubt, subsection (3) does not limit any other manner of giving to an employee a written record of the key employment terms of the employee.

[27/2015]

(5) An employer is taken to have failed to comply with subsection (2) if the written record given is incomplete or inaccurate, whether or not the employer knew that the record is incomplete or inaccurate.

[27/2015]

(6) The Minister may, by order in the Gazette and subject to such conditions as are specified in the order, exempt from any provision in this section —

- (a) any class of employers specified in the order, in respect of all employees; or
- (b) all employers or any class of employers, in respect of any class of employees, specified in the order.

[27/2015]

(7) In this section, “key employment term”, for an employee, means any type of term of employment contained in a contract of service between an employer and the employee that is prescribed to be a key employment term.

[27/2015]

Employers’ obligation in relation to pay slips

96.—(1) Subject to subsection (2), an employer must give —

- (a) to every employee of the employer a pay slip, within the time prescribed for giving pay slips, for all salary paid by the employer for the salary period or salary periods to which the pay slip relates; and

- (b) to every employee a pay slip for every sum paid by the employer under section 22 or 23.

[27/2015]

(2) A pay slip given by an employer to an employee must be in the form prescribed (if prescribed) and must contain all the information prescribed.

[27/2015]

(3) The requirement to give a pay slip to an employee under this section is satisfied if an electronic record containing the prescribed information of a pay slip is provided in a manner that enables the information contained in the electronic record to be accessible and useable by the employee for subsequent reference.

[27/2015]
